This language will be incorporated in the Performance and Payment Bonds when we issued the Notice of Award will be as indicated below:

This bond is effective one year from the date of the executed Agreement [OR if option is exercised use this #@# _____, 2019 to _____, 2019] unless renewed by a new bond. If a new bond is not provided, the surety is not liable for claims on this bond arising out of or relating to events occurring outside the effective period of this bond.

These bonds are not be required in the bid submittal. Only the BIDDERS BOND (Bid Form #2) is require.

The cost per each bond must be incorporated for each year (base and option years) under pay item E5 indicate under Bid Form #1.

Because the bid opening is tomorrow, I will posting a pdf copy of this email in the vendor portal so everyone will be notified.

Hi David,

In the past you guys have either accepted the verbiage Jill stated below or the following for these long term agreements:

"This bond is effective ____ to ____ unless renewed by a new bond, if a new bond is not provided the surety is not liable for claims on this bond arising out of or relating to events occurring outside the effective period of this bond."

Please let us know if one of these is acceptable?

Thanks you,

Hi David,

We are looking into writing a bid bond for this project and since it is potentially a five-year term, I need your approve to use our annual verbiage on the performance and payment bonds if our contractor is low. Thanks!

"This bond is effective _____ to _____ unless renewed by a new bond. If a new bond is not provided, it does not subject the surety to a claim on this bond."
